A message from our new President, Alexandria Louden:

Welcome back. Hope you all had an enjoyable summer.

We start our new year off with ARTS IN THE PARK at Smithville on September 10. Carol and Barry Plimpton have agreed to coordinate the day of the event. We will have room to display some paintings and sell prints and cards of your art work. Carol Fitzpatrick will put together a mural for the children again this year and all six of the previous years' work will be on display. Sign up to help, demonstrate or see the artists.

The 9th Annual Gisela Bly Juried Members' Show will be in October at the Palmyra Cove Nature Park in the Environmental Discovery Center. The Nature Center is planning an October filled with several large events and high activity in the center. If you are planning to enter the Bly Show, you will need to get your Prospectus in for this show earlier than previous years. Look for it in your email or online.

During this year, there is an opportunity each month to display your art.

September Program

September 19 Gwynn DiPilla will be demonstrating work in Colored Pencils.

Artist Biography:

Gwynn received a Bachelor of Arts in Art Education from Temple University and Tyler School of Art (through an affiliation with Messiah College). Upon graduating, she accepted a full-time position teaching art in the Oxford Area School District. While teaching, she took graduate courses in art at West Chester University. In 1993, Gwynn gave birth to her first child, left her tenured teaching position, and moved to Haddonfield, New Jersey. The following year she began teaching drawing at the Haddonfield Adult School. A few years later after having her second child, she started the children's Multi-Media for Young Artist's program. Running multiple sessions three times annually, the program has been in operation for 15 years. From 2001-07, she participated in the Art Goes to School initiative, a volunteer program that teaches art history to children. In addition, Gwynn added a course on watercolor through the Haddonfield Adult School.

Gwynn continued to develop her art. Several pieces were selected by the Haddonfield Tourism Committee to represent the town in a series of fourteen postcards, and some of these images were also published in print media and online. In 2001, Gwynn started a series of Jersey shore scenes.

Limited edition prints of 12 (to date) are sold in shore galleries and stores. In 2002, Gwynn went back to school at the newly founded Studio Incamminati in Philadelphia Pennsylvania. Here, she studied drawing and painting for four years under the prestigious portrait painter Nelson Shanks.

Over the past seven years since, Gwynn has continued to teach, adding additional classes. She remains an active artist, focusing on drawing in colored pencil, and painting in watercolor and oils. In late 2010, Gwynn began to enter exhibits and shows, and was honored to receive recognition as Best Artist from South Jersey Magazine in July, 2011. She has also promoted the work of her adult students by arranging several art shows in local venues. In 2013, Gwynn was accepted as a Signature Member of the Philadelphia Water Color Society (PWCS).

Artist Statement:

“My goal is for my work to bring patrons to a place of serenity and beauty. Each image I create is based on series of photographs that I take, often altering the composition to achieve a sense of peacefulness and escape.”
